

Name: Ioannis Dalamagkas

Degree: EDIP (Laboratory Teaching Staff) University of Thessaly

Subject: Applied Informatics with emphasis on Financial Applications

e-mail: ioandalamag@uth.gr

Telephone: 2410 684248

Curriculum vitae summary:

Ioannis Dalamagkas is a member of EDIP in the Department of Accounting and Finance of the School of Economics and Administrative Sciences of the University of Thessaly since February 2019.

He has a PhD in Management Information Systems from the University of Sofia (2002) as well as a title of Pedagogical and Didactic Adequacy ASPATE Volos (2007).

From 2003 to 2012 he was a scientific and laboratory collaborator of the former TEI of Thessaly. He has taught computer science for 18 years at all levels of education (primary school, high school, university, Learning adult education).

Lecturer in training programs by the National Center for Public Administration and Local Government (E.K.D.D.A) in matters of e-Government and Applied Technologies and inclusion in the temporary single register of teachers of E.K.D.D.A. after anonymous / positive evaluation / grading of the trainees in 2014.

He has also been an auditor of funded programs in Greek public organizations.

Has professional experience in the development and construction of Information systems and network management. He has participated in various research projects of the TEI of Thessaly.

Finally, his research interests focus on the subject of information systems development, the modern information environment, investment analysis and portfolio management and quantitative financial issues.